At Zoe's Place, we need your support now more than ever. The rising cost of living and current economic climate makes each year more and more challenging to raise the £1.9 million needed to run our Middlesbrough Hospice.

“ Amelia loves coming to Zoe's Place, the support is amazing. Zoe's Place do so much for us as a family and we know Amelia is loved and well cared for whenever she goes to stay. ”
Mike, Amelia's dad.

A message from our Executive Trustee, Joan Stainsby

We are so pleased you are considering becoming a partner of Zoe's Place. By working with us, you're helping to make a BIG difference in the lives of the babies and families we support, whilst helping your company achieve your ESG goals. 70% of the £1.8million needed to keep our doors open, comes from members of the public and Corporate partners. Your support is invaluable & you are helping us to continue to provide care and support to the children and families on Teesside who so desperately need our help. Your commitment of funds makes that possible. Thank you so very much.

Why Partner with us?

By becoming a Corporate Partner of Zoe's Place, we can help you to fulfil your Environmental Social Governance objectives and help to build your publicity as a company that not only works for themselves but others too. ESG is a powerful instrument that can foster a positive influence on the environment and society, whilst simultaneously strengthening your brand and increasing your teams dedication and morale.

Research shows that employees stay longer with a company that allows them to take part in fundraising or support their chosen charity in different forms such as volunteer days. This is where we come in! Let's seize this opportunity now and help create a sustainable future for future generations.

Chris Butler, Pre-Development Project Manager at Taylor Wimpey

Zoe's Place has strengthened our relationships by giving us a common goal, which is to support the work this fantastic charity does. A series of successful events in support of Zoe's Place has improved the confidence of our colleagues by taking on challenges outside of their comfort zone. Zoe's Place is a fantastic charity and the more awareness and support that companies like Taylor Wimpey can raise will really help the scale of the work that this charity can do and the support it can bring to young people and their families.

Niamh Waldron, ESG Director at Sigma Capital

People and the environment in which they live are at the heart of our business, and this extends to building strong partnerships and supporting good causes in the communities where we operate. The focus of such engagement is to make a positive difference where we can, in line with our company and brand values, believing this to be a natural process and one of a responsible business and members of society. We invite nominations for support from our Simple Life residents, and this is how we learned about and met the wonderful team at Zoe's Place, Middlesbrough. After many visits, a trek up, and back down, Snowdon and sponsorship of varied activities and events, we are thrilled to be supporting friends.

We are clear that this not about the benefits to us as a business, rather quite simply an opportunity to support and team up where needed, engage, and collaborate locally - this being true of all our commitments to social impact. We all have an obligation to contribute to the communities in which we live and operate, as people and businesses. Doing so is the right thing to do, it supports strong and thriving communities, and you meet inspiring and wonderful people, who become friends!

Such partnerships afford further opportunity to build local contacts and effective ecosystems. My advice to any company looking to make a difference, to support a vibrant, dedicated, and impactful charity to contact the team at Zoe's Place. Support can take many guises and is always welcome - it is incredibly invigorating and rewarding. It just makes sense!
